1 Olive – backed Pipit, Anthus hodsogi has been recorded today/ MPO

Short discription of details seen in the terrain by Michał Polakowski:

Bird was seen in Lighthouse area about 10:00. It was mainly feeding on the ground in the forest, near the shore. It was not calling at all and was seen about 1 – 1,5 minutes mainly from about 7 – 8 meters in good light and by binoculars 10x50 (Opticron). We have been looking for this bird with Mats Strömberg and Bimbi Ollberg already since after about 20 - 30 minutes but without success.

*Bird was of size as Anthus trivialis. Bill stout, more heavy than in A. pratensis, with paler base of it and similar stout like A. trivialis has. Upperpart of head olive – greish (more olive colour), without visible streaks like A. trivialis has. Supercilium was long, white and contrastable. It was much more broad behind the eye then before eye, much more contrastable and visible then in A. trivialis. On the upper edge of ear – coverts was a similar bright white dot. Upperparts olive colour with some grey as well, unstreaked in compare with A. trivialis witch is well known to me. Tail quite long, similar colour like the rest of upperparts. There were 2 – 3 outermost tail feathers with some white parts but it was not seen well. 2 wing – barrs buffish, not contrastable, similar looking like in A. trivialis. Sides of neck, breast and belly well – streaked, sides breast and neck more streaked then sides of belly. Legs bright, similar colour like A. trivialis has.*
